

Spain Family Trip — Barcelona → Madrid

Dates: Wednesday, July 8 → Tuesday, July 14, 2026 (7 days / 6 nights)

Travelers: 4 — Mom & Dad (74), you & your brother (29)

Route: Land Barcelona 9:00 AM Jul 8 → 3 nights Barcelona → AVE train Sat Jul 11 → 3 nights Madrid → fly to NY/NJ Tue Jul 14

Planning notes for a multigenerational trip: central hotels chosen for shortest distances to your actual wishlist, gentle pacing for your parents, timed morning tickets to beat the July heat (highs ~30–36°C / 86–97°F), taxis over long walks, and afternoon rest gaps before the late Spanish dinners.

- Sagrada tickets are nominative — names must match photo ID, and July 2026 is centenary-year peak season: morning slots genuinely can sell out days ahead. If the 9:00–10:00 window for Jul 9 is gone, take anything before 11:00, or check Tiqets (authorized reseller with separate allotments), or book the guided-tour ticket (sells out slowest). ⚠️ A teachers'-strike protest was intermittently restricting basilica access as of July 5 — re-check sagradafamilia.org the morning of your visit.

- Restaurants: Botín, Casa Lucio, 7 Portes — call/book online today too. The ultra-fine-dining rooms (Disfrutar, DiverXO) are realistically gone at 3 days' notice, but cancellations happen — try their sites; StreetXO takes walk-ins.

Where to Stay — chosen by distance to YOUR list

Barcelona (3 nights: Jul 8–11)

Your Barcelona list = Sagrada Família, Camp Nou, beach, old town, and the train station. I mapped both candidate hotels against every stop:

Destination	Pg. de Gràcia base (Suites Avenue / Majestic)	Hotel Arts (beachfront)
Sagrada Família	8–10 min taxi / 23 min flat walk	10–15 min taxi
Gothic Quarter	~24 min flat walk / 8 min taxi	8–12 min taxi
Barceloneta beach	10–15 min taxi	on the sand (0 min)
Park Güell	11–15 min taxi	15–25 min taxi
Camp Nou	10–15 min taxi	16–25 min taxi
Sants station (train day)	7–12 min taxi / 12 min metro L3	12–20 min taxi

Chosen stay — Suites Avenue (serviced apartments, Passeig de Gràcia 83).

The best-value pick that keeps the winning location: it sits on the same street as the Majestic (two blocks up, directly facing La Pedrera), so every distance in the Majestic column above applies. You get a family apartment with a kitchen and living room, individual A/C, 2 outdoor pools + solarium, and 24-hour reception — the apartment experience with hotel backup, at a fraction of a two-room 5★ bill.

Passeig de Gràcia 83 · ☎ +34 934 874 159 · book direct at suitesavenue.com.

Ask for a family/2-bedroom unit, confirm the lift, and request early bag-drop for the 9 AM arrival.

Splurge alternative — Majestic Hotel & Spa (5★, Pg. de Gràcia 68), rooftop pool with Sagrada views. Beach-first alternative — Hotel Arts (5★, Port Olímpic), sand at the door but 10–25 min taxis to everything else.

Madrid (3 nights: Jul 11–14)

Chosen stay — Gran View Apartments (serviced apartments, Gran Vía 48).

Best value with everything still at your feet — it's on Gran Vía itself at Callao, which actually puts the shopping and Royal Palace closer than the Four Seasons:

Destination	From Gran View (Gran Vía 48)
Zara flagship (Gran Vía 34)	3 min walk
Bershka (Gran Vía 25)	4 min walk
Chocolatería San Ginés	7 min walk
Puerta del Sol	8 min walk
Plaza Mayor	11 min walk
Royal Palace	12 min walk
Mercado de San Miguel	13 min walk
Santiago Bernabéu	10–18 min taxi (~€10–15 for all 4)
Atocha station	8–12 min taxi (~€9–11)

1-bedroom units sleep 4, or take a 2-bedroom apartment; the building has a pool + solarium, gym, and A/C. Gran Vía 48 · ☎ +34 91 598 14 09 · book at granviewapartments.com. Confirm the lift and early bag-drop are arranged for Saturday's 11:45 AM arrival — you'll likely drop bags and lunch first anyway.

Splurge alternative — Four Seasons Hotel Madrid (5★, Calle de Sevilla 3) — the plan's original pick, equally central (Sol 5 min), with full hotel service and spa.

(Also solid: Thompson Madrid, NH Collection Suecia, Eric Vökel Madrid Suites.)

Booking tip for both cities: a true 2-bedroom unit (not two separate apartments), lift confirmed explicitly, A/C in every room, and a step-free bathroom for your parents.

Train — Barcelona → Madrid, Saturday July 11 (verified timetable)

Important 2026 reality check: Adif track works add ~25–30 min to every train on this line until ~December 2026 — so trips take 3 h+, not the advertised 2 h 30, frequencies are reduced, and fares are high. Verified departures from Renfe's official data for Saturday, July 11, 2026 (all arrive Madrid-Puerta de Atocha):

Train	Departs Sants	Arrives Atocha	Duration	Stops
Renfe AVE 03062	5:50	9:40	3h50	5
Renfe AVE 03302	6:35	9:52	3h17	1
Ouigo (budget)	7:35	11:05	3h30	1
Renfe AVE 03082	8:00	11:44	3h44	4
Renfe AVE 03080	8:25	11:27	3h02	nonstop
Renfe AVE 03092	9:00	12:24	3h24	2
Renfe AVE 03304	9:55	13:44	3h49	5

Book the 8:25 AVE 03080 — the only nonstop and the fastest morning train, at a civilized hour for your parents, landing you in Madrid at 11:27 with the whole afternoon and evening ahead. If you want to arrive even earlier, the 6:35 (arr. 9:52) is the early-bird option. In Elige Confort or Premium you get wide 2+1 seats, at-seat meal service, and Renfe's free Atendo assistance for your parents (request it when booking — they'll help with luggage and boarding at both stations).
Notes: iryo's morning times couldn't be verified (its old 8:45 no longer runs — check iryo.eu directly); Ouigo is cheapest but charges for luggage beyond one cabin bag + one carry-on each. Availability is live-only — book on renfe.com today.

✈ Flight home — Madrid → NY/NJ, Tuesday July 14 (nonstop options)

Flight	Departs MAD	Arrives	Airport	Barajas terminal
United UA50	10:50	13:15	Newark (EWR)	T1
American AA95	10:25	12:30	JFK	T4
Iberia IB211	~12:30	14:55	JFK	T4 (boards T4S)
Delta DL127	12:45	~15:00	JFK	T1
Iberia IB325	16:20	~18:00	JFK	T4 — lands into evening rush

If you haven't booked yet, the midday Iberia IB211 or Delta DL127 fit your parents best: taxi from the hotel ~8:15-8:30 AM (fixed €33 flat fare to the airport, ~30-45 min), airport by 9:00 (Iberia recommends up to 4 h for US-bound security), and a mid-afternoon landing in New York. Iberia/American board from the T4S satellite — budget an extra 30-45 min for the airside train + passport control. Air Europa's Tuesday service couldn't be confirmed — avoid unless verified.
If your flight is already booked, just apply the same timeline: leave the hotel ~4 hours before departure.

Day-by-Day

Day 1 — Wed Jul 8 · Land in Barcelona (9:00 AM)

- 9:00 AM: land at BCN; taxi to the hotel (~25-35 min, ~€35-40). Rooms likely won't be ready — request early check-in when booking; otherwise leave bags and have a slow coffee/brunch nearby.
 - Afternoon: nap/pool — everyone will be jet-lagged; protect this rest window.
 - Evening: gentle Gothic Quarter + La Rambla stroll while it cools — duck into La Boqueria market on the way (stalls close ~8 PM) for ten minutes of the famous food stalls and a fresh-juice stop — then an early tapas dinner. If energy allows, finish with a sunset drink at a beach chiringuito on Barceloneta.
- Early night — tomorrow has a 9:00 reservation.

Day 2 — Thu Jul 9 · Sagrada Família (reserved) + Beach

- 8:40 AM: arrive at the basilica for security (15 min early). 9:00 AM entry — the "Quiet Hour" slot: thinnest crowds of the day, morning sun through the blue Nativity-façade glass, and cool air. Parents use step-free Entrance B (Carrer de la Marina) — lifts throughout, free loaner wheelchairs if wanted.
- Towers: you and your brother can add tower access (+€10) — but Mom & Dad should skip it: the descent is 300–500 narrow spiral stairs on foot, no lift down.
- Late morning: stroll/taxi back via Passeig de Gràcia — La Pedrera façade on the way (directly across the street from Suites Avenue).
- Afternoon: beach + pool heat break — swim at Barceloneta or laze at the rooftop.
- 5:00 PM: Casa Batlló — inside this time (timed entry, ~90 min). Gaudí's dragon-spine house a 7-minute stroll down Passeig de Gràcia: the blue-tiled light well and whale-rib attic are the best interior in Barcelona. Air-conditioned with lifts — the ideal late-afternoon slot for your parents.
- Evening: dinner in the Eixample or El Born; optional sunset harbor cruise from Port Vell (zero walking, great for the parents).

Day 3 — Fri Jul 10 · FC Barcelona's Camp Nou + Beach

- 9:15 AM: taxi to Spotify Camp Nou, Access 15 (C/ Arístides Maillol) — arrive 15 min before the 9:30 guided Experience session (latecomers get downgraded to museum-only). ~2 h: museum + trophy gallery + Messi Zone, immersive 360° room, panoramic view of the rebuilt bowl, and guided access into the first-tier stands. Note for Mom & Dad: everything is step-free with lifts up to the panoramic viewpoint; the final descent into the stands is stairs-only — they can wait at the viewpoint while you two go down. (Renovation continues: no dressing rooms/pitch walk on the standard route yet.)
- Lunch + afternoon: back east for a final beach afternoon — Barceloneta or the quieter Nova Icària stretch.
- 6:30 PM: Park Güell — now a committed stop (timed tickets sell out like the Sagrada's; book today). Taxi to the upper entrance so nobody climbs the hill; golden hour gives the coolest air and prettiest light on the mosaic terrace. If the parents are out of energy by Friday evening, you two go alone while they rest — the Montjuïc cable car is their low-effort alternative.
- Night: seafood/paella farewell dinner (7 Portes or Can Majó). Pack for the train.

Day 4 — Sat Jul 11 · AVE to Madrid + Old-Madrid Evening

- 7:40 AM: taxi to Barcelona-Sants (10–15 min; Atendo assistance meets you if requested).
- 8:25 AM: AVE 03080 nonstop → Madrid-Atocha 11:27.
- 11:45 AM: taxi to Gran View Apartments, Gran Vía 48 (8–12 min); drop bags, lunch around Callao/Puerta del Sol (8-min walk — you're staying on top of it).

- Afternoon: siesta — travel day + tonight is busy.
 - ~6:30 PM: Tuk-tuk tour (pre-booked, private, 1.5–2 h): yes, the touts by Plaza Mayor seem scammy — that's why you book a rated operator ahead — but the format is genuinely perfect here: a fun, zero-walking sweep of the Royal Palace exterior, cathedral, Plaza de Oriente, Gran Vía, and old town in the golden hour.
- Ask the operator to end the route at the Temple of Debod — the real ancient Egyptian temple with Madrid's best sunset view, for zero extra effort.
- Evening: dinner under the arcades of Plaza Mayor.

Day 5 — Sun Jul 12 · Royal Palace, San Miguel & Shopping

- 10:00 AM: Royal Palace (timed tickets; lifts available) + Plaza de Oriente.
- ~12:30 PM: flat 10-min walk to Mercado de San Miguel — your must-do. Graze long and slow: jamón, croquetas, oysters, vermouth. Arriving before ~1 PM beats the worst crush.
- Afternoon: siesta.
- ~5:00 PM: Puerta del Sol (Km 0 plaque, the bear-and-strawberry-tree statue), then Bershka (Gran Vía 25) and the Zara flagship (Gran Vía 34) — 3–4 min walks from your apartment. Fold in the Spanish McDonald's stop here for the menu comparison the four of you can argue about at dinner.
- ~7:00 PM: Flamenco at a top tablao — seated, air-conditioned, and one of Spain's great live experiences; take the early show so the night stays easy for your parents. First choice Corral de la Morería (Calle Morería 17, near the Royal Palace — the world's most famous tablao); Torres Bermejas near Gran Vía is the closer-to-the-hotel backup. Book today and confirm exact showtimes.
- ~9:15 PM: short taxi to La Latina — Sunday is its big tapas night (Cava Baja) — for a late-but-light bite, or Casa Lucio if you snagged a table.

Day 6 — Mon Jul 13 · Real Madrid's Bernabéu + Sweet Finale

- 8:45 AM: taxi up the Castellana (~15 min, one cab fits all four, ~€10–15).
- 9:00 AM Bernabéu tour at opening — museum with all 15 European Cups, the renovated bowl with its wraparound 360° screen, changing rooms and dugout. ~2 h. Heads-up: the route includes numerous stretches of stairs — if either parent would struggle, the €44 Flexible ticket plus the club's lift-served partial route (contact them ahead) is the safer setup.
- Lunch + siesta.
 - ~4:00 PM: Reina Sofía for *Guernica — Picasso's masterpiece is arguably Spain's most important artwork, the museum is open Mondays (it closes Tuesdays), fully accessible, and this is a one-hour in-and-out visit: Guernica, the rooms around it, done. Gentler alternatives if the family prefers: Retiro Park (flat, shady, rowboats) or the Prado (benches throughout).
 - Evening: farewell dinner — Sobrino de Botín (world's oldest restaurant, 1725; book now) — then Chocolatería San Ginés for the churros-and-thick-chocolate finale, 7 min from the apartment. Pack tonight.

Day 7 — Tue Jul 14 · Fly home to NY/NJ

- ~8:15 AM: taxi to Barajas (€33 flat fare, 30–45 min) for a midday nonstop — airport ~4 h ahead per Iberia's US-bound guidance (T4S flyers: extra 30–45 min).
- Land New York mid-afternoon. ¡Buen viaje!

Top-Tier Restaurant Picks

With 3 days to go: book the classics today by phone/web; treat the 3-star rooms as lottery tickets (check for cancellations). First sitting ~8 PM suits your parents best.

Barcelona

• Splurge: Disfrutar (3★ Michelin, ranked world's #1 — cancellations only at this notice), Lasarte (3★), or the warmer Cinc Sentits (1★).

• Iconic & family-friendly: 7 Portes (paella institution, est. 1836), Els Quatre Gats (Picasso's haunt), Can Majó (beachside paella).

- Tapas: Cal Pep, El Xampanyet, Quimet & Quimet — go at opening for seats.

Madrid

• Splurge: DiverXO (3★, Spain's hardest table — cancellation-watch only), DSTAgE (2★), or walk-in-friendly StreetXO.

• Iconic & family-friendly: Sobrino de Botín (oldest restaurant on Earth, 1725 — wood-oven suckling pig, steps from Plaza Mayor), Casa Lucio (huevos rotos), Taberna La Bola (cocido madrileño).

- Tapas: San Miguel market grazing + Cava Baja crawl in La Latina (Sunday!).

Comfort & Pacing (traveling with parents at 74)

- Heat plan: all big sights are booked at 9:00–9:30 AM starts; afternoons are pool/siesta; evenings are for squares, shopping, and dinners.
 - Taxis liberally: every leg above is one cheap cab; a standard taxi seats all 4.
 - Renfe Atendo: free assistance at both stations — request with the ticket.
 - Stairs watch: Sagrada towers (skip for parents), Camp Nou stands descent (viewpoint wait), Bernabéu route (contact club if concerned). Everything else is step-free or lift-served.
 - Dining: first sitting ~8 PM, or big lunch + light tapas night.
 - Pharmacies (green cross) everywhere; carry meds in original packaging + a list of generic names; confirm travel insurance covers all four.
